The American Journal of Physiology promotes contemporary and innovative research that seeks answers to physiological questions related to normal and abnormal cellular function. It brings together contributions from many scientific disciplines, including cell and molecular biology, biophysics, biochemistry, immunology, and pharmacology. AJP-Cell Physiology covers all areas of cellular physiology, including:

- epithelial and membrane transport, ion channel regulation, volume regulation, ATPases
- vesicle trafficking and protein targeting, cell polarity, endo/exocytosis, secretion
- cellular differentiation, growth factors, angiogenesis, vascular, cardiac and smooth muscle biology, erythrocyte biology
- cytoskeleton, microtubules, actin, intracellular junctions, cell-matrix interactions, cell pathophysiology, inflammation, ischemia, toxicity, cell and mitochondrial respiration, apoptosis, cellular immunology
- cell imaging, intracellular signaling, pH, calcium, fluorescent probes

Authors are required to submit papers online at www.apscentral.org.

Manuscripts to AJP-Cell Physiology are submitted online through www.apscentral.org.
Mandatory Submission Forms and Fee Forms customized to your manuscript become available on completion of the submission process. For extra copies of blank forms, see http://www.the-aps.org/publications/journals/index.htm
If you use a blank form, please write the manuscript number, title, and author’s name CLEARLY on the form.

Member Benefit
MentorNet
Takes Mentoring to a Higher Level!

The American Physiological Society (APS) and the Women in Physiology Committee are pleased to announce their partnership with MentorNet, an award-winning one-on-one mentoring program.

MentorNet’s Academic Career E-Mentoring Program matches graduate students, postdocs and untenured faculty members in physiology with experienced scientists for an 8-month mentoring relationship conducted via e-mail.

MentorNet also offers a Résumé Database for students seeking jobs or internships.

Any APS Member or nonmember (of any status) can be a mentor in this program. However, to receive the benefit of coaching and guidance from a mentor, you have to be an APS Member with the status of “trainee or early career”.

Questions? Contact Melinda Lowy (mlowy@the-aps.org; 301-634-7787)
Want to use MentorNet right away? Become an APS member today. Apply online at: www.the-aps.org/memapp2/ or email: members@the-aps.org
Call For Papers
American Journal of Physiology-Cell Physiology

Protein and Vesicle Trafficking, Cytoskeleton

The American Journal of Physiology-Cell Physiology is soliciting manuscripts in the area of intracellular protein and vesicle trafficking. Many hereditary and acquired human diseases involve defects in processes that normally lead to the correct addressing, packaging and delivery of functionally important proteins to their correct intracellular locations. Such processes include protein folding and quality control mechanisms, Golgi transport and posttranslational modifications, assembly of vesicle coats and the involvement of GTPases and their regulatory proteins, interaction of vesicles with microtubules and the actin cytoskeleton, vesicle fusion via SNARE proteins and tethering proteins, and membrane protein recycling via endocytosis and exocytosis. While basic cell biological studies will be considered, studies that relate cellular and molecular observations with physiological consequences are especially welcome.

The authors should indicate in a cover letter that their manuscript is submitted in response to this call for papers, and they should select “Protein and vesicle trafficking, cytoskeleton” as the submission category using the button on the APSCentral website.

Please contact the Editor-in-Chief, Dennis Brown, by e-mail for more information (ajpcell@rcn.com).

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS
for the Editorship of
American Journal of Physiology-Gastrointestinal and Liver Physiology

Nominations are invited for the Editorship of the American Journal of Physiology-Gastrointestinal and Liver Physiology to succeed M. Montrose, who will complete his term as Editor on June 30, 2009. The Publications Committee plans to interview candidates in the Fall of 2008.

Applications should be received before August 15, 2008.

Nominations, accompanied by a curriculum vitae, should be sent to the Chair of the Publications Committee:

Kim E. Barrett, Ph.D.
9650 Rockville Pike
Bethesda, MD 20814-3991
CALL FOR NOMINATIONS
for the Editorship of

Physiological Genomics

Nominations are invited for the Editorship of the Physiological Genomics to succeed A. W. Cowley, Jr., who will complete his term as Editor on June 30, 2009. The Publications Committee plans to interview candidates in the Fall of 2008.

Applications should be received before August 15, 2008.

Nominations, accompanied by a curriculum vitae, should be sent to the Chair of the Publications Committee:

Kim E. Barrett, Ph.D.
9650 Rockville Pike
Bethesda, MD 20814-3991

Track the Topics, Authors, and Articles important to you with... CiteTrack

CiteTrack is a free service that will alert you by e-mail whenever new articles matching a search criteria of your choice are published. You can track the following:

- Topics...tell CiteTrack which words or subjects to watch for in new content.
- Authors...be alerted whenever key authors you are following publish a new paper.
- Articles...know whenever a paper of interest to you is referenced by another paper or letter.

CiteTrack checks for content matching your criteria in all participating journals published with the assistance of Stanford's HighWire Press.

CiteTrack services are available free—but to see the full text of articles, you or your institution will need a subscription to that particular journal.

Sign up for CiteTrack today... Visit the APS journals web site at www.the-aps.org/publications. Select the online journal of interest, click on <Subscriptions>, and select <CiteTrack>.
