Scope of Journal

Physiology publishes invited review articles written by leaders in their fields. These articles are peer reviewed and highlight major advances in the broadly defined field of physiology. The journal also publishes shorter articles that either present important emerging topics and technologies or differing points of view. Finally, the journal highlights and briefly summarizes some of the most exciting new papers in physiology. With a new format that is both exciting and attractive, the journal is a valuable tool for researchers, educators, and students.

Important Information for Readers & Authors

- All online content searchable through the Google search engine.
- APS Journal content indexed on MEDLINE and accessible through PubMed.
- APS Journals indexed by Index Medicus, Biosis Previews, and ISI Web of Science.
- Free access to the extensive collection of back issues available online 12 months after publication.
- Free email notification of new tables of content as it becomes available.
- Perpetual/Electronic Archiving of the LOCKSS and CLOCKSS systems preserves the electronic content of all APS journals.
- APS participates in CrossRef initiative which links to over 5,600 journals worldwide.
- Authors can choose to pay a fee on top of regular author fees and have their article made free immediately ($2,000 for research articles and $3,000 for review articles).
- Legacy Content available as an online package of over 100 years of historical scientific research from 13 APS research journals.
- RSS Feeds available as a mechanism to subscribe to “headlines” from a web site.
To take advantage of this new feature, please insert the native expression of your name alongside the English transliteration in the main title page of your manuscript submission.
The FASEB Journal has become a preferred venue for the latest research reports and reviews of epigenetics, RNA mechanics, histone acetylation, nitric oxide signaling, eicosanoid biochemistry, angiogenesis, tumor suppressor genes, apoptosis, cytoskeletal function, human stem cell research, and more!

BIOSIS PREVIEWS • ISI Web of Science • MEDLINE and PubMed: APS Journal content is indexed through all of these excellent services.

HighWire: APS journals are hosted by HighWire Press, Stanford University Libraries, the largest repository of high impact, peer-reviewed content, with 1,232 journals.

eTOCs (electronic Table of Contents): Receive instant notification of new APS content.

CiteTrack: Use your own criteria and key words to be notified of newly posted APS journal content.

RSS Feeds: Another great way to receive a notification of newly posted APS journal content.

Free Necessary Color: Regular or Student members of APS who are first or last authors of articles in any of the APS research journals get free scientifically necessary color.

FREE Online Access to the extensive collection of back issues 12 months after publication.

AuthorChoice: Authors can choose to pay a fee on top of regular author fees and have their article made free immediately ($2,000 for research articles and $3,000 for review articles).

Articles in Press: Instant, subscription-based access to newest research (post-acceptance, pre-copyedited) in original manuscript format.

Legacy Content: Online package of over 100 years of historical scientific research from 13 American Physiological Society research journals going back to the first issue of each of the APS journals.

Manuscripts online within days of acceptance!
